INTERNAL AUDITOR TRAINING

MWG Apparel Corp are a Canadian-owned apparel manufacturing company specialising in the technical design, development, and custom manufacturing of workwear products for specific industrial use.

The workwear manufactured by MWG Apparel is designed to be protective, flame-resistant and of high visibility. Workwear is supplied for its use and value in electrical utilities, mining, forest fire fighting, oil and gas, and National Defence.

Since 1928, MWG Apparel has been operating in Winnipeg, Canada and adheres to a standard where they can meet, maintain, and surpass the quality standards of regulatory boards, such as the Canadian General Standards Board (CGSB). This quality is achieved by consistently ensuring all fabrics, components, and design specifications meet the required personal protective equipment (PPE) standards.

MWG Apparel Corp chose IMSM to train their staff as ISO 9001:2015 internal auditors, giving them the skills and competence to evaluate the performance of their Quality Management System (QMS).

The 9001:2015 internal auditor training course consists of:

- The requirements of ISO 9001:2015
- Auditing principles
- Checklists
- Non-conformances
- Writing the report and follow-up
- Interview practice
- Case studies

MWG Apparel's management detailed their training with Thomas Orban, a professional IRCA-qualified auditor, as 'easy to understand and follow'. Further adding that the 'ease of attending the course' and the 'ability of additional personnel' helped them gain a 'better understanding of how to conduct an internal audit.'

Completing CPD-certified internal auditor training with IMSM will enable MWG Apparel to conduct inhouse audits with their trained internal staff, ensuring that they are able to effectively prepare for their annual surveillance audit.

Through our internal auditor training course, IMSM has helped support MWG Apparel Corp to:

- Learn best-practice auditing techniques from expert IRCA-qualified auditors
- Increase confidence that their staff are striving for continuous improvement and consistency
- Demonstrate to their workforce and clients that they work to internationally verified quality standards
- Develop action plans and be confident in sampling key documents and records
- Identify and reduce non-conformances during their annual surveillance audit

Internal auditing is fundamental when it comes to maintaining an ISO system. IMSM's course provides delegates such as MWG Apparel Corp with the training to be confident in conducting internal audits.

At IMSM, our professional IRCA-qualified auditors can provide live online training to support and guide attendees with comprehensive knowledge of the changes or revisions of each standard.

Throughout the course, there are interactive presentations, workshops, exercises, and case studies so that you can develop efficiently as an expert internal auditor.

Internal auditor training is available for employees at all levels responsible for people and processes who wish to develop their skills further.

"We will be taking advantage of the review of our operating systems with a view to full certification to ISO 9001:2015."
